PARIS, Aug. 29 (INS)—In a sensational first page spread characterized as a "world scoop," the newspaper Paris-Midi charged today that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler has rejected all mediation in Czechoslovakia and concluded a plan for virtual absorption of that country's Teutonic population.

"If successful, Midi declared, this will be the forerunner of similar action in Russia, Holland and Belgium to bring all Germans living outside the borders of the Reich under the swastika.

LONDON, Aug. 29 (INS)—The London News-Chronicle in a Warsaw dispatch today said it was reported 30,000 German rifles, 460 machine guns and other war materials were smuggled into the free city of Danzig last week.

The dispatch said the Danzig Nazis aim to use the weapons and munitions for the creation of an army of 25,000 men.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Charles W. Hughes, formerly assistant manager of the Hotel Barnum in Bridgeport, Conn., testified today that in 1935 he frequently saw Tammany Leader James J. Hines in company with the late "Dutch" Schultz and members of the gangster's mob.

Hines is on trial accused of having acted as the paid political "fixer" of the Schultz syndicate in the $20,000,000-a-year policy racket in Harlem.

"I saw Hines many times in the hotel lobby," Hughes said.

He testified Schultz and his lieutenants were also there.

LIVES IN GARDNER

Hughes said he is now a salesman and lives at 90 Union street, Gardner, Mass. Before that he lived in Brockton, Mass. He said he formerly was a clerk and then an assistant manager at the Hotel barnum in Bridgeport.

He identified photographs of "Dutch" Schultz, George Weinberg, one of Schultz' chief lieutenants, "Lulu" Rosenkrantz, the gang leader's bodyguard, and J.

Stocks Topple $1-$5 a Share

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (INS)—The stock market broke $1 to more than $5 today on a renewal of European war scares.

Opening down $1 to $4, the market, in a later selling wave that saw the high speed stock ticker fall behind, extended these losses. The break here followed sharp declines in London.

The war scare was reflected in a new low for the last three years for the British pound sterling. All foreign currencies were lower against the dollar, with gold in demand from hoarders abroad.

Operate On Norma Shearer

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (INS)—Lovely Norma Shearer, who underwent a minor operation in Mt. Sinai Hospital over the week-end, will be permitted to leave the institution some time this afternoon, officials of the hospital said today.

The actress's surgeon, Dr. Udall J. Salmon, refused to discuss the nature of Miss Shearer's illness.

MINOR AILMENT

Winifred Kay, Miss Shearer's secretary, whose name the actress used in registering at the hospital, said:

"It is a very minor ailment."

Miss Shearer, widow of Irving Thalberg, Hollywood producer, did not use her own name, according to Miss Kay, because she didn't want "all kinds of false reports trickling back to Hollywood."

MAY DRIVE TONIGHT

Dr. Salmon visited the actress today and assured her she could drive to Suffern, N. Y., tonight to attend the opening of "What Every Woman Knows," starring Helen Hayes.

Miss Shearer came to New York two weeks ago to attend the premiere of the film, "Marie Antoinette," in which she is starred.

Britain Fights To Keep Peace

opposed to further German expansion toward the east.

Another day of extreme European tension saw Prime Minister Chamberlain in almost constant conference with his cabinet colleagues and Sir Nevile Henderson, his ambassador to Germany.

At the same time, members of the French government excitedly discussed Reichsfuehrer Hitler's warlike movements and planned steps to combat an Italian order demanding evacuation of 800 French residents of the border village of Isola in preparation for army maneuvers.

HITLER ON FRENCH BORDER

Hitler, himself, continued his inspection of German fortifications, paying a surprise visit to Kehl, across the Rhine from Strasbourg.

The German minister to Prague protested against anti-German attacks in a Czech newspper, and Berlin was indignant over reports of a mysterious "insult" to Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein by Czech soldiers.

Both the British and French cabinets will meet in extraordinary session tomorrow to consider the entire European situation. It was officially stated here that Britain remains hopeful that all parties concerned will make suitable contributions to the maintenance of peace.

France's determination to fulfill her treaty obligations to Czechoslovakia was made known after Hitler's coup in Austria last March.

The attitude of Russia, Rumania and Jugoslavia was explained to Hitler when German diplomats made their recent explanations to Moscow, Bucharest and Belgrade.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, stated that Russia would stand by Czechoslovakia in the event Hitler finds it "necessary to assist the Sudetens."

Litvinoff expressed belief that other powers having treaty obligations toward Czechoslovakia, such as Rumania and Jugoslavia, would do likewise.

The German diplomats, it was learned, had stated that if the Sudeten problem was not settled quickly Germany might be compelled to intervene and expressed the hope that in such an eventuality the nations concerned might find it possible to maintain a neutral attitude.

PEACE HANGS ON REPLY

British quarters said that Rumania and Yugoslavia did not state their stand as strongly as Litvinoff stated it for them, but they added that Berlin was given "no satisfaction." It was pointed out that Rumania and Yugoslavia are members of the Little Entente nd could hardly promise neutrality in view of their friendship with France.

After a long morning conference, Chamberlain again called in Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Chancellor Sir John Simon and Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson for another hour and 20 minutes talk this afternoon. No statement was issued.

Meanwhile, the immediate peace of Europe was held to hinge on a favorable response from Germany to Britain's latest warning that aggression in Czechoslovakia will mean a general European war, with England fighting on the side of democracy.

To bolster this warning, high ranking officials of the British government launched upon a series of important diplomatic conversations aimed at inducing Reichsfuehrer Hitler to heed the sharp warning sounded by Sir John Simon at Lanark, Scotland, Saturday.

If he does so, it is believed the Czech crisis will blow over for the present.

TERRIBLE WAR SEEN

If not, it is feared Europe faces the most destructive war in history.

The public gave evidence of its own concern by gathering in droves on the narrow confines of Downing street today as diplomats and statesmen passed in and out of that famous door.

Events of the past few days and diplomatic advices received by 10 Downing Street have led British officialdom to the reluctant conclusion that Hitler is making definite preparations for a quick blow in Czechoslovakia if the opportunity offers itself and if he thinks he can "get away with it."

The so far uncompromising attitude of Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein and his followers is causing gravest apprehension here.

The British government also diplomatically expressed concern and disappointment to Berlin over the Henlein order to the Sudetens to prepare to defend themselves.

VISCOUNT RUNCIMAN

PRIME MINISTER CHAMBERLAIN

IN EUROPEAN CRISIS—Central figures are Viscount Runciman, Prime Minister Chamberlain and Britain's fleet. Runciman, top, heads British mission attempting to avert Hitler war on Czechs. Chamberlain, lower left, summonses the cabinet, recalls his ambassador from Berlin for conference, orders the home fleet to the North Sea, ready for emergency.

Henlein 'Insult' Causes Crisis

BERLIN, Aug. 29 (INS)—The dispute between Berlin and Prague over autonomy demands of Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans reached a new shrill crescendo today amid charges that Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein had been affronted.

A German press report stated that Henlein, chief spokesman of Hitler in Czechoslovakia, was "insulted" by Czech soldiers.

The officially inspired report added that a sharp German protest was expected to be lodged with the Prague government.

Official details of the "insult" were not available. Press reports, however, said Czech soldiers had jeered Henlein when he passed through Fohlen. An official of the Sudeten party photographed the incident.

Excitement and tension rose on each side of the Czech border as the charge was flung into the controversy only a few hours after Germany proclaimed unity of the Sudeten Germans with the people of the Nazi Reich. The proclamation was designed to counteract British "encouragement" to the Czechs, allegedly expressed by Sir John Simon in his British foreign policy speech Saturday.

Affirmation of Nazi support was uttered by Rudolf Hess, second to Hitler in command of the Nazi party, in a speech at Stuttgart to thousands of Sudetens at the sixth annual Congress of Germans living abroad.

While official German quarters here angrily condemned Simon's warning, Hess, avoiding any direct, tangible commitments for the Reich in Czechoslovakia, declared:

"With deepest sympathy the German nation is watching the suffering of her children in Czechoslovakia.

"Nobody in the world who loves his own people and who is proud of them will resent the turning of our thoughts to the Sudetens. We tell them we admire their iron self-discipline in the face of the worst chicaneries, terror and murders . . . You know it, you Sudetens, that we are all with you with hot hearts."

HITLER VISITS FRENCH BORDER

KEHL, Germany, Aug. 29 (INS)—Proceeding with his minute inspection of Germany's fortifications, Reichsfuehrer Hitler came here unexpectedly from Berlin today, causing a wild flurry of excitement on both sides of the Franco-German border.

Kehl lies directly across the Rhine from Strasbourg, heavily-fortified French city which played a salient role in the last war.

It was announced in Berlin on Saturday that Hitler would strike northward on his tour of inspection, but Kehl was taken completely by surprise when the Fuehrer roared into this town in his huge supercharged Mercedes, accompanied by eight generals of his army staff.

The frontier between Strasbourg and Kehl was immediately closed and all traffic suspended. The Fuehrer carefully inspected fortifications on either side of the Kehl bridge while Nazi storm troopers took over the town to maintain order.

The visit was such a surprise that the townsfolk did not even have time to hang out the usual flags of welcome. There was no official reception.

Hitler departed for Offenburg after an hour's visit.

A Roosevelt Starts at the Bottom

John on Job An Hour Early

While his bride of last June caught up on her beauty sleep, John Roosevelt punched his first time clock today.

He was due at William Filene's Store at 9:20 to start work on his $18.50-a-week job as stock boy. But in the best Horatio Alger tradition, he was exactly an hour early.

Like any other of the big department store's hundreds of employes, he drew a time slip, then stood in line at the clock to have it stamped.

"Name, please?" said somebody.

"John Roosevelt," the President's youngest son explained respectfully.

"Report in the basement," he was told.

TOO EARLY FOR ANNE

Another worker was detailed to show him the way.

John's whole attitude made clear his determination to buckle down and make a success of his business career.

But he couldn't help betraying a qualm or two at sacrificing his freedom.

"The store will be open Saturdays, from now on," he said ruefully. "No Harvard football games for me this autumn.

"And I won't be able to get to Hyde Park or Washington to see my father, either."

DIDN'T WAKE BRIDE

It was as simple as that.

To be sure he wouldn't be late, his first morning on the job, John was out of bed promptly at 7.00 a. m.

That was too early for his pretty bride, the former Anne Lindsay Clark of Nahant.

So John didn't wake her.

He breakfasted alone in the big Clark home on the Nahant cliffs. A maid served him orange juice, toast and coffee.

NO GOOD-BY KISS

With no good-by kiss from Anne, John then climbed into a $2000 sedan, and started off for Boston.

Anne

First, though, he loitered for a moment, wiping the ocean mist off the windshield and windows of the car, which had been parked outdoors all night.

He looked back at the house. But there was no Anne at the window, to wave to him.

"We were out late last night,

Gun-Toting Bride Back To Sherborn

Mrs. Ruby Butt, pretty, red-haired, 26-year-old Somerville bride found carrying a loaded revolver in her handbag, was ordered back to Sherborn women's prison today for violation of parole.

She told Judge C. S. Sullivan in Charlestown municipal court that she was carrying the gun "to give to someone." She pleaded guilty to the gun-toting charge.

She got the gun, she said, from a Somerville man. Police said this man told them she took the gun without his knowledge or permission. Sergeant Edward Seibold, police ballistics expert, had the gun today for examination.

Police said they arrested Mrs. Butt near City square, Charlestown, on a "tip" that she was carrying the revolver in her handbag.

Her husband, John Butt, of Mt. Vernon street, East Somerville, was in court. Police said he told them:

"We were married last November. Until three months ago Ruby was a waitress. She quit her job. I wanted to stay home nights, but she wanted to go out. She got herself into this."

Sift Torture Case Threats

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 29 (AP)—Five alleged attempts to intimidate state witnesses or investigators in the torture-kidnaping of a state guardsman here, were under investigation today by authorities, who held a socially prominent physician as instigator of the abduction.

The victim, Irving Baker, 37, remained at home convalescing from injuries inflicted 10 days ago when he was carried from his home, beaten, and his flesh torn with a pair of pliers.

Mrs. K. W. Berry

Prosecutor who ordered Smith Troy, kidnaping and assault charges filed against Dr. Kent W. Berry, 59, and three other men, said the attack grew out of Baker's alleged attentions to the doctor's attractive young wife.

Baker, whose accused assailants face arraignment today, denied he was involved in any misconduct with Mrs. Berry. Intimidation attempts listed by Troy as:

Death threats against Ted, 12, and Janet, 8, Baker's children, unless he "forgot" the charges against Dr. Berry.

The threats were contained in a letter affixed to a rock and hurled through a window into the Baker home.

A telephoned death threat to a state detective to "lay off" the investigation.

An attempt to wreck the car of Police Lieut. Beal Messinger.

Troy himself was followed home from a theater by a mystery sedan, occupants of which flashed a spotlight through the windows of his home. He sent his wife out of town.

A young Malden flier and his 17-year-old girl passenger escaped injury today when their plane crashed at Rowley airport.

The pilot, John W. Phillips, 28, of Brentwood road, Malden, failed to attain sufficient altitude on his takeoff.

His ship pancaked into a clump of brush after its landing gear had touched a tree.

Neither Phillips nor his companion, Miss Maria Meshna, 17, of Lynn street, Malden, was hurt.

Damage to the plane was slight, although it had to be dismantled to get it out of the alder trees in which it landed.

Wives Enter Primary War

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

The ladies stepped onto the political battleground today in Massachusetts' bitter primary campaign.

Aiding their husbands were Mrs. James M. Curley and Mrs. Francis E. Kelly, wives of two of the four candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mrs. Curley made her first platform appearance in the campaign before 2000 persons in the Municipal building, South Boston, where the former governor branded Governor Hurley, one of his three opponents, as the "most incompetent and the most impossible person who ever held office."

Mrs. Curley played the piano and led mass singing while her husband charged that Hurley "had closed the door to work in the face of hungry men" and had greatly increased the real estate tax of the small home owner.

Mrs. Kelly bowed to the cheers of a large audience at Springfield during a reception to her and the Lieutenant-Governor in Technical High School auditorium.

Kelly too, attacked Governor Hurley and threw in Curley as well, branding the pair as the "power trust twins."

He declared Massachusetts had lost more industries under the Hurley and Curley regimes than any other state in the union during the same four-year period.

If elected, Kelly promised to go to other states and personally attempt to bring former Massachusetts manufacturers back again.

Leverett Saltonstall, Republican candidate, was at home with his family while his opponent, Richard Whitcomb, also took the day off prior to a busy swing, this week, through most every section of the state.

Middlesex county's hot fight for district attorney brought forth a blast from District Attorney Warren L. Bishop in which he charged that his opposition was made up of "untruths, half-truths, calumnies and detractions." Money is being spent against him so the Boston gang can seize control of the Middlesex criminal courts, he charged.

Joseph C. White, present Boston school committeeman and Democratic aspirant for lieutenant-governor, today invited the 40-plus Club to co-operate with him in aiding men of 40 or more to find jobs and security. In a letter to Harold W. Cairns of Braintree, secretary of the organization formed last week, White said that action on the problem of unemployed men over 40 was one of the two principal planks of his program. White is due to speak tonight to a large gathering of workers at Norwood and at several rallies in Roxbury.

Charles P. Howard, for 12 years chairman of the state commission on administration and finance, who seeks the G. O. P. nomination for lieutenant-governor, based his speeches on a platform of "the need for a capable and experienced man to correct long standing abuses on Beacon Hill."

Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr., another Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor, took a fling at the Roosevelt administration by charging discrimination to such an extent that the Commonwealth is nearly on its "industrial death bed," while former Judge Kenneth D. Johnson stated one of his plans as lieutenant-governor was to promote a better study of juvenile correction in order to halt "enlistments in gangland."

Mrs. Russell Spurns Hurley Offer of Post

Mrs. Richard Russell, wife of the former mayor and congressman, today spurned the olive branch extended by Governor Hurley over her technical disqualification as an unpaid trustee of Metropolitan State Hospital.

Mrs. Russell was notified by Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook that she no longer held the position because she had failed to take oath of office within 90 days from her last appointment by the governor. Similar notices were sent out to at least six other institution trustees throughout the state during the week for the same reason.

Governor Hurley declared he would be happy to have Mrs. Russell continue her work in the post she has held for five years and would nominate her again if she would indicate to him that she would like the appointment.

In regard to the offer, Mrs. Russell stated at her summer home in Essex today:

"The present situation was handled so poorly I think it best for all concerned that I do not accept any appointment to correct such an error. As far as I am concerned the incident is closed."

Mrs. Russell said that she offered to withdraw as a trustee last March but that Governor Hurley insisted upon her serving. She added that she was not in a position to know that a new oath was required even from those reappointed to an office.

The trustee's husband, former Congressman Richard M. Russell, has for weeks conducted a vigorous campaign for Democratic nomination for the post now held by Governor Hurley. He is one of four candidates for the Democratic nomination and is the son of former Governor William E. Russell.

New 'Purge' Test Tuesday

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt took a new step forward today in his drive to "purge" Congress of anti-administration Democrats.

The President suggested the nomination of a New Deal supporter in the South Carolina Democratic primary tomorrow. Simultaneously he arranged a Labor Day talk in Denton, Md., against Senator Millard E. Tydings, an administration foe seeking renomination.

Sen. E. D. Smith

Roosevelt, in response to questions, said the withdrawal of State Senator Edgar A. Brown from the South Carolina senatorial race "clarifies the election issue in that state.

Senator Ellison D. Smith, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and Governor Olin D. Johnston remain in the race. Smith, regarded by administration followers as a conservative, has opposed some key New Deal measures. Johnston has pledged adherence to the administration.

Of Smith and Johnston, the President said:

"One of these candidates thinks in terms of the past and governs his actions accordingly.

"The other thinks in terms of 1938, 1940 and 1942 as well.

"On Tuesday, the electorate of South Carolina will make this choice. On them rests the responsibility of selecting a representative in the United States Senate to play a part in the framing of legislation to carry out the objectives of the administration's program."

Record Registration For 'Purge' Primary

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 29 (AP)—A Democratic primary which has brought out a record registration of 422,000, will decide, tomorrow, the political future of Senator E. D. Smith, veteran of five terms, regarded as being on the new deal's "purge" list.

Seeking to unseat the 74-year-old Democratic dean of the Senate, is 41-year-old Gov. Olin D. Johnston, who rose from a textile mill worker to the governor's chair. Johnston campaigned as "a 100 percent" new dealer.

President Roosevelt lent his influence to the contest over the week-end when, at Hyde Park, N. Y., he said South Carolina voters have the responsibility of selecting a senator to play a part in legislation to carry out administration objectives.

McAdoo Opponent Demands Probe Data

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29 (AP)—The long public career of Roosevelt-endorsed Senator William Gibbs McAdoo hung in the political balance today as a primary campaign, embittered by Democratic factional war and festooned with a $30-a-week pension scheme drew toward a close.

Foes launched more charges at the 74-year-old senator as the Senate campaign committee continued its investigation of their accusation that McAdoo permitted the solicitation of federal jobholders for campaign funds.

With only one campaign day remaining before tomorrow's balloting, John W. Preston, the "no rubber stamp" candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination, "demanded" that the Senate committee make public the findings of its representatives who came to California.

Registration Rush Expected

Extra heavy registration was indicated for today by election officials, who blamed the poor turnout Saturday night on the rainstorm. Only 786 of an expected 1500 voters appeared.

The registration figure, an all-time record, is now 323,062.

Governor Will Probe 'Roast'

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 29 (INS)—Gov. George H. Earle asked today that a full report be rushed to him on the roasting to death of four convicts in the Philadelphia county prison at Holmesburg.

He requested the report in telegrams to Coroner Charles H. Hersch, of Philadelphia, and Charles I. Engard, state secretary of welfare.

"The manner in which the prisoners met death is the most horrible thing I have ever heard of," said the governor, who has just returned from two weeks' vacation in Central America.

"Regardless of legal technicalities, as governor of this commonwealth I am determined to make impossible recurrence of such a shame on the name of the state and city."

If the governor finds he is without power to take immediate and drastic steps, he said he may appeal to the Legislature for aid.

Cupid Slashes Brookline Tape

Judge D. A. Rollins, in Brookline district court, today granted a five-day waiver to Miss Kathleen May Roberts, of Seven Oaks, Ken, England, and A. Lucas Gardiner, of Chicago, after the couple had obtained a marriage license.

They will be married tomorrow night, it was stated, in the home of Gardiner's brother, William, Glen road, Brookline.

They met, it was explained, during a trip to England that Gardiner took 18 months ago. Yesterday, Miss Roberts arrived in Boston aboard the United States Lines' "American Banker." In obtaining her passport visa in England, she had to promise she would be married "immediately" upon arrival in the United States, she explained.

Use Diving Bell In Dodge Body Hunt

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Aug. 29 (Canadian Press)—Mrs. Laurine Dodge, widow of Daniel C. Dodge, was flown today to the Dodge home at Rochester, Mich., to recuperate from injuries she suffered in an explosion August 15 that killed her husband.

Matthew H. Bishop, Dodge's attorney, said it had been decided to have Captain Simon Lake, the submarine builder, try to find Dodge's body in the north channel of Georgian Bay by use of a submarine bell.

Tobin Moves To Get 2 Million Back Poll Taxes

Pay up your delinquent poll tax —or else . . .

That was the ultimatum issued by Mayor Tobin today as he launched a drastic drive to collect almost $2,000,000 in poll taxes which have remained unpaid since 1929.

"The city is going to use every reasonable method to collect this money," the mayor declared in opening the drive.

"I would like to point out to those of the public whose poll taxes are in arrears that they can save a constable's fee by voluntarily paying what is due at the office of the city collector at City Hall."

He asserted that less than 50 per cent of this year's poll taxes have been paid.

At the same time Mayor Tobin declared he was making a study of the problem of unpaid real estate taxes, some of which, he asserted, have been in arrears since 1898.

Allston Boy, Man Injured

Donald Harrington, 9, Nixon place, Allston, was taken to City Hospital today after falling off a truck in Harvard avenue near Cottage Farm bridge. Police said the boy was "hitching" a ride.

The boy's skull was fractured and he had concussion of the brain. His name is on the danger list.

Charles Davis, 41, Gordon street, Allston, suffered a broken leg when he was struck by a truck said to have been driven by Walter Scott, 23, Dana street, Cambridge.

ADELAIDE MOFFETT

With Vincent Lopez she wrote a song

Adelaide Moffett, the society girl who has both a beautiful face and voice, today unveiled still another of her talents—song writing.

Blonde, brown-eyed Adelaide, who gave society the run-a-round for a singing career, has written a new tune—"Once I Had a Dream."

The song was written in collaboration with Vincent Lopez, whose swing band will introduce it tonight.

Miss Moffett is the daughter of James A. Moffett, former federal housing commissioner.

Home Looted In Back Bay

Entering the luxurious Beacon street, Back Bay, apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Duke C. Dorney, Jr., in their absence, a thief took heirlooms and gems valued at $775, police learned today.

A diamond-studded platinum wedding ring was among the jewelry taken. So was a $450 platinum and diamond bracelet.

Other costly keepsakes stolen included watches and cameos handed down for generations in the families of Dorney and his wife.

Dorney, who is vice-president of the Maryland Casualty Company, discovered the theft on his return early today with Mrs. Dorney from a week-end trip.

The thief entered the first-floor apartment some time between 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon and 2:30 a. m. today, when the Dorneys returned.

The thief went directly to the bedroom where the jewels were kept, Dorney believed, as articles in other parts of the apartment were not disturbed.

Attack Ends China Airline Service

HANKOW, Aug. 29 (AP)—Two Chinese air companies today announced suspension of service from inland cities to the coast, following the machine-gunning of a transport ship forced down near Canton with 14 reported dead.

The National Aviation Corporation, owned by Chinese and American interests, temporarily suspended its Hong-Kong-Chungking schedule and the Eurasia Corporation, in which Germans have an interest, ended its Hankow-Hongkong service.

Film Marionettes Play Boston Today

First presentations in a nation-wide tour of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Marionette Moviettes," were given today on Boston Common, the Public Gardens, Park Square, Copley Square, and downtown Boston.

Brought here in conjunction with the opening of the new movie season Thursday at both Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters, these Marionettes are a set of 23 likenesses of players in "Marie Antoinette," which opens Thursday at both the State and Orpheum.

There are marionettes of Norma Shearer, Tyrone Power, John Barrymore, Anita Louise, Joseph Schildkraut, Henry Stephenson and other players.

Seven scenes were presented from "Marie Antoinette" with voice recordings of the stars in the actual film timed to the actions of the marionettes.

Split Widens Between Lewis And Martin

DETROIT, Aug. 29 (AP)—The widening breach between Homer Martin and John L. Lewis presaged today the possibility that President Martin and his adherents in the United Automobile Workers might secede from the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The break between Martin and Lewis, CIO chairman, came into the open over the week-end when each side took a significant step.

The first was Lewis' dispatching to UAW locals a plea to support his proposals to restore harmony in the divided union; the second was the request of a group of regional UAW officers that the international executive board cease sending monthly per capita taxes of five cents to the CIO.

Said Lewis in the letter to UAW locals:

"The controversy which has divided your organization is weakening it in the face of the wage-cutting drive of the employers and has become a public scandal which affects not only your welfare but the welfare of the whole CIO."

Retaliated Martin in a press conference:

"The CIO would do well to follow our example in cleaning our house and clean its own before interfering with us."

"I will not turn over the International UAW to John L. Lewis," Martin said earlier.

Last week, after conferring with Martin and with the four expelled international officers of the union who lead the Martin opposition, Lewis proposed a truce which called for reinstatement of the former officers until next fall's biennial convention.

Signal Saves 2 As Boat Drifts

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 29—Two local fishermen today gave thanks to a makeshift distress signal which brought another craft to their rescue as they drifted toward open sea.

The men, John J. Kearsey and John Madruga, both 24, set out for a day of tuna fishing in the latter's 28-foot power boat. In Ipswich bay, the coil of the gasoline engine burned out.

Madruga put up an emergency mast, broke out a small riding sail, and steered for Salisbury. A sudden squall snapped the mast and tore their sail to shreds.

But meantime their signal had been sighted, bringing aid.

New Financing Plan in View

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (INS)—Decision on whether the treasury will launch a refinancing and new money borrowing operation in September is to be made at a series of conferences between President Roosevelt, Secretary Morgenthau and fiscal advisers tomorrow.

Morgenthau is due to arrive in New York today from Europe, where he conferred with French and British officials on war debts and other international financial problems. He is expected to join President Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

Before his departure early in the summer, Morgenthau put the treasury's fiscal condition in trim to prepare for the big spend-lend program.

At present the treasury has $1,600,000,000 in its working balance, but it is being cut down because of the big inflow of gold from abroad as well as increased government expenses.

Leary Hunts Stolen 'Notes Of Failure'

Alarmed at the possibility of political victory, Thomas H. Leary, Cambridge policeman, today called in fellow officers to search for his stolen notes on "secrets of failure."

Still seriously contending he is an unwilling candidate for Democrat convention delegates, Leary had just completed a series of speeches which he felt confident would bring him defeat.

But somebody took them from his machine just when Leary was ready to sit back and rest assured his candidacy was at last losing ground.

Leary, whose candidacy is in violation of civil service regulations, contends some prankster filed nomination papers in his behalf while he was away on vacation.

While police are searching for the missing "secrets of failure" Leary wants them to locate a pipe and tobacco pouch, also stolen.

He pointed out that they were gifts from a German soldier after the armistice while he served with the American forces in France—a point which Leary never should have mentioned because he may be deluged at the primaries with the votes of veterans, as a result.

Wet Sands Delay Cobb Speed Trial

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 29 (INS)—Reid Railton, builder of John Cobb's "Railton" racing car, announced that the assault on the world's land speed record, scheduled to be made by Cobb today, would be postponed.

Railton made the announcement after surveying the track following a half hour of rain. Skies cleared immediately after, but the salt beds were dampened so that it would be at least 24 hours before the speed trial could be made.

Find Dentist Shot Dead

With a revolver clutched in his right hand and a bullet through his brain, a man tentatively identified as Dr. Nathaniel N. Preston, a former Park square, Boston, dentist, was found dead today near the Watertown arsenal. His home was in Lake street, Brighton.

The body lay near the Charles River in a part of the Metropolitan District parkway not visible from the street.

Children playing by the river found the dead man. Police said death must have occurred hours before, as rigor mortis had set in.

The victim was about 45 years old, well dressed, and wore a brown suit. In his pockets was only a single, crumpled $1 bill and a set of auto keys.

Marks of identification had been removed from the clothing.

New Carroll Probe Pressed

AUBURN, Me., Aug. 29—Charges linking Francis M. Carroll to the unsolved murder of John W. Penney, gasoline station proprietor, will be ready for the Androscoggin County grand jury when it convenes next week if "a little further investigation" proves successful, Sheriff Rex V. Bridges said today.

Sheriff Bridges scoffed at reports that a "mystery woman" has entered the case.

"We're working hard on this case," he said, "and it begins to look very definitely as though there were something to it—enough, at any rate, for the grand jury to consider. But there's no woman."

FREED FROM QUARANTINE

Sheriff Bridges declined again to divulge the results of his conversation with Carroll, now a "lifer" in Thomaston prison for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield, South Paris physician.

Carroll himself was released from quarantine at the prison today as it took his place in the ranks of his fellow prisoners. Prison guards, apparently acting upon instructions, quietly took pains to keep him separated from young 18-year-old Paul Dwyer, his accuser and his daughter's former sweetheart.

Carroll was assigned to a cell in the east wing of the prison, across the yard from the cell-block in which Dwyer's cell is located.

Carroll will work in the canning department, which is at the opposite end of the prison from the tailor shop in which Dwyer is employed.

Investigation of the Penny slaying was renewed on the strength of a statement by George Violette placing Carroll inside the Penny filling station the same night Penny was found dead with a battered skull. Violette's statement declares Carroll and Penny were quarreling and that a woman was mentioned.

Sheriff Bridges admitted he had found three other witnesses substantiating Violette's story.

"No effort," said Bridges in reply to a question, "was made to talk with Paul N. Dwyer."

Seversky in Kansas On Record Flight

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29 (INS)—After refueling, Major Alexander P. De Seversky took off again at 12:20 p. m., Boston time, today on his attempt to break the east-west transcontinental air record.

De Seversky covered the distance from New York to Kansas City in four hours and 14 minutes.

U. S. Gunboat Mines in River Periled by Jap

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Navy Department dispatches disclosed today that for four days the U. S. Gunboat Monocacy has been in the midst of exploding mines on the upper Yangtze river.

The dispatches said 15 mines have exploded in the neighborhood of the boat. On Saturday two burst simultaneously only 80 yards from the Monocacy's stern.

The department received from the commanding officer of the Monocacy, Lieutenant Clarence A. Conlan, San Francisco, a dispatch stating that at Kiukiang, on the Yangtze river, where the Monocacy was stationed, the Japanese were engaged in mine sweeping August 24 between Kiukiang and the west end of the south channel.

Japanese officers called that day, Lieutenant Conlan telegraphed, and said they expected to be mine-sweeping for three of four days.

Saturday, August 27, Lieutenant Conlan reported a mine was exploded by the Japanese 400 yards off the starboard bow.

Lieutenant Conlan continued that no ships were under way there or in vicinity when at 1 o'clock in the afternoon two mines beneath the water exploded simultaneously 80 yards from the Monocacy's stern.

PLANE CRASH DOOMS 5

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. (AP)—The five occupants of an Australian air liner were killed here when the pilot swerved to avoid a tractor and the plane crashed in a cane field near Innisfail airport.

U. S. Rejects Nicaragua Canal Costing Billion

(Copyright, 1938)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (INS)—The War Department has flatly rejected proposals for digging another canal across Central America, linking the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Instead, it proposes to construct a third series of locks at the Panama Canal which would accommodate the mammoth 45,000-ton battleships authorized in the $1,200,000,000 naval expansion program.

In a confidential report to Congress, International News Service was told today, Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson, speaking for the War Department, turned thumbs down on the proposed $1,000,000,000 canal across Nicaragua.

Th war department has found, Johnson emphatically stated, that another canal across Central America would not be justified on grounds of national defense, additional aid to sea-borne commerce or improvement of international relations.

The Nicaraguan canal would, instead, Johnson asserted, complicate America's problem of defense in that area.

The war department's disapproval has also been backed up by similar reports of the department of commerce and the U. S. maritime commission.

Realty League Files for Poll On Housing Ban

Charging the government housing projects are "economically unsound, un-American," and promise to be the "ruination" of the average property owner, the Real Estate Owners' and Tenants' League of Boston today filed 50 petitions containing more than 3000 signatures with the Municipal Election Commission.

The petitions ask that a referendum be held on the question of a law to prohibit cities and towns from contributing money to the construction or maintenance of government-subsidized housing, or to boards of housing authority.

The petitions are the opening guns in a drive to keep further government housing projects out of Boston, officials of the league said.

If plans now contemplated are carried out, the league asserts, between 5000 and 8000 families, "few of which will be slum dwellers," will be taken out of taxable properties.

The government housing program, the league charges, is "class legislation placing an unwarranted burden on every property owner."

"Looks like I'm behind the eight ball, financially, John grinned.

"Thus far, it has cost me $2.65 to get to work. I've still no lunch to buy, and 15 cents to pay in the tunnel going home.

NOT MUCH PROFIT

"And all I'll earn today will be one-sixth of $18.50. Not much profit there.

[illegible]

"Much relieved, John said. 'I'm sort of embarrassed to ride into the city by subway, anyhow. You know how it is. Some body would recognize me, sure, and I'd have reporters and camera chasing me.

"The success of starting work is keeping mum, whatever I do.

SERIOUS ABOUT JOB

"I hope the reporters stuff will do down. I'm really serious about this job. I think I'm going to like it a week and I want to get started in the business like any young fellow beginning at the bottom.

Nervous John Makes 3 Job Errors

Bashfully embarrassed at making his debut as a working man, John Roosevelt jocked the wrong employes' entrance at Filenes store today going in the one used by upstairs help. His job is in the basement. An attendant straightened him out.

Then John drew the wrong time slip, and was called back to the desk to get his own. No. 2071.

Finally, in his nervousness, he found he had forgotten to throw away his half-smoked cigarette. He passed it our reptitiously to a reporter, with a whispered "Much obliged."

[illegible]

"Gosh, I hope they don't send me around with a truck filling up ladies' carnival coupons."

[illegible]

Next Friday I'm not going to drive to town at all. I'm going to take the Nahant ferry in from Lynn, come across on the ferry and walk up to the store from Rowe's wharf.

"Then, on September 15, Anne and I will move into our apartment on Brookline. Then it'll be easier for me to get to work. And cheaper too."

Boston After Dark

BY GEORGE HOLLAND

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: How to stop those Yankees? . . . Machine-guns have been suggested . . . Perhaps if we shuffle off to Buffalo, a less violent and more subtle manner of making the American League race an eight-team affair can be found . . . In the International League, the Newark club, a Yankee farm, is making the same kind of a run-away race that the Yankees are making of the competition in their league . . .

George Holland

Some one of the Buffalo papers has decided to ignore the Newarks . . . The journal prints the league-standing each day, but only seven teams are listed . . . When Newark plays one of the other teams the score is given, but the contest is listed as "exhibition game . . .

If this policy were to be adopted by all the newspapers in American League cities (except New York, those parading Yankees might miss the publicity and decide to fold up.

More Musing:

Hedy Lamarr is the fastest newcomer in American film starring future in many a year . . . The girl who made a Continental incident out of her appearance in the daring "Ecstasy" need have no worries for the future . . .

She lost a very wealthy husband because of her performance in "Ecstasy" . . . He tried to buy up all the prints of that earlier film, and was vexed when he failed . . . In "Algiers," Miss Lamarr wears clothes beautifully, reads her lines like a veteran and—acts . . . The picture will be a cleanup . . .

And watch the rush to release "Ecstasy" again, when the mass public has had time to see the new Hedy!

Once Over Lightly:

Vincent Lopez, who came to town today, has been signed by Billy Rose as the maestro of the World's Fair theater . . . Lopez was caught in the war between high politicos which ended gambling at Saratoga three weeks ago . . . He was also the intermediary who almost composed those difficulties . . .

A truce was called, and the games were resumed—for one night . . . Then one of the local bigshots whose political ambitions are statewide quit . . . Among the contracts cancelled were those of Lopez, Jimmy Durante and Sophie Tucker . . .

Without the "take" from the games of chance, the famous night-clubs at the Spa could not meet such large salaries . . . Shafer Lane, the Medford songbird, has been booked for an appearance at the Mayfair . . .

A general taxicab association (and that will be the name probably) is to be started soon in Boston . . .

Friends of Myles McSweeney, the talented all-around good newspaperman of the Record's staff will be overjoyed to learn that he came through "with a fine operation . . . Myles is at the Winchester Hospital and Dr. A. McKay Fraser sees nothing ahead but a quick recovery . . .

Young Donald Muirhead is waging an effective and persuasive campaign for representative on Ward 16 . . .

Two former Everett High players — on the same team — are fighting it out for a seat in the lower house. Rep. Lawrence E. Davis is seeking re-election . . . His ex-teammates opposing him are Lawrence Lucier and Attorney LA Cugini . . . Abel Baer, native Bostonian and veteran writer of songs, has a new tune which the experts say can't miss the best-seller lists quickly . . . "Simple and Sweet" is the title . . .

Meanwhile, sheetmusic sales have dropped so low in Boston that a famous downtown stand may discontinue its sheet-music department . . . A smash-hit rates less than 70 copies over the counter these days . . . From 300 to 1000 copies was average when the business was at its peak . . .

Chatter:

Yes, sir . . . It's Jack Marshard who wore Sally Clark for her debut at the Plaza Persian Room and the date is Sept. 7 . . . Eddie Duchin will have to get along with the Hartmans as his co-attraction . . .

Joe Byrne celebrated his [illegible] Cape Verde Sea [illegible] . . . [illegible] . . . [illegible] . . .

Hughes gazed a spell and then pointing to Hines said:

"I saw Davis and Weinberg a few times and Rosenkrantz many times," he added.

He said he saw Hines in the lobby, going into a elevator in the barber shop and also in the dining room at Hines's table.

Hughes said he had paid particular attention to Schultz and his associates. He explained:

"As a matter of business we would pay attention. Being a nationally known criminal, Schultz impressed himself on the mind of the average man in the hotel."

Hughes said he saw exactly what were the items he saw Schultz with Hines.

"Did you feel, asked Stryker, "that entertaining a criminal like Schultz made it necessary to check all his visitors?"

"Not necessarily," replied Hughes. "Schultz left a strong impression that regular customers wouldn't."

He said he [illegible] talk with Schultz [illegible] Hines [illegible] he didn't really [illegible] Bridgeport about [illegible] visible [illegible] rumors.

At Stryker's [illegible] Hughes drew a pencil [illegible] of the hotel lobby. The [illegible] was received in evidence.

The witness marked a letter "H" the spot where he first saw Hines. Stryker showed the diagram to the jury.

Stryker went [illegible] about just what Hughes [illegible] how many steps he took [illegible] when Hughes first saw him. He remarked the witness was talking about something that occurred three years ago and Hughes acknowledged he was.

"You came down here voluntarily?" inquired Stryker.

"Well, I was reluctant to come down at first," said Hughes, "I was subpoenaed."

The witness stated that according to his story the time he first saw Hines could have been only one from August 10 to September 23, 1935.

CALM DURING QUIZZING

The cross-examination did not seem to [illegible] Hughes. He was as cool as a morning in an old [illegible] when [illegible] put Hughes [illegible] examination of Stryker.

BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON MONDAY AUGUST 29 1938

The False Smile

The Editor Says:

The fundamental cry of RED BAITING is being raised against the Dies Committee's investigation of Nazism and Communism activities in the United States.

That is an OLD TRICK of Communists and those who prefer to operate in the shadow by confusing issues, names and "party lines."

One of the reasons why Communism has gained such a mighty foothold in the United States, the Hearst newspapers long warned, is because so many Americans are afraid of being called RED BAITERS.

Confirmation of this fact has now come from Prof. James B. Matthews formerly a high ranking liberal propagandist who admittedly has participated in Communistic activities and intrigues in the United States.

TESTIFYING before the Dies Committee, Professor Matthews declared:

"We had an almost perfect trick for silencing investigators who suspected the Communist nature of an organization.

"All we had to do was cry 'RED BAITING.'

"This cry of Red Baiting is the best trick ever invented short of a firing squad or a night shirt to frighten people who dare to object to Communist theories or practices.

"It has put every reasonably honest and intelligent American on the defensive and has caused many decent citizens who like to think of themselves as progressives.

"A Tory or Conservative American simply won't risk the charge of being pro-Red other than to be afraid of Red Baiting. And THE THEORY OF RED BAITING ENABLED US TO CARRY ON THE WORK OF MOSCOW IN THIS COUNTRY WITH LITTLE OR NO MOLESTATION FROM KNOWING CRITICS."

IRONICALLY, the cry of Red Baiting has been used by many Communists who, by supposedly honorable and patriotic-sounding organizations and newspapers, have done more to help the cause of Communism.

Every patriotic American daring to expose Communistic activity is subjected to the charge of Red Baiting by Communists from the most "respectable" among them.

No amount of factual and unassailable TRUTH ABOUT COMMUNISM is free of the charge of Red Baiting by those indulging in this preposterous and incalculably dangerous HEAD-IN-THE-SAND conservatism and patriotism.

PATRIOTIC AMERICANS OUGHT TO WAKE UP

WHO ARE THE RED BAITERS?

Not only the Dies Committee, but every really PATRIOTIC and ALERT citizen and organization in the United States.

Not only the [illegible] veterans of war who [illegible] the overwhelming majority of the [illegible] and [illegible] TRULY AMERICAN BODIES into which parties and [illegible].

The time has come to WEAR THE BADGE OF RED BAITING PROUDLY.

BE A RED BAITER and HELP SAVE AMERICA FROM COMMUNISM!

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON Aug. 29

IT IS an experience to stand on the sidelines and see a politician in the very act of defeating himself by his own method as Mr. Roosevelt is doing at the moment.

In attacking on the grounds of political immorality the act of Republicans switching in Democratic primaries the President spurns the identical ladder by which he has climbed to power.

Standing as he does today at the very apex of [illegible] reform movement in America Mr. Roosevelt repudiates one of the principal instrumentalities by which this [illegible] movement has gained [illegible] under the name of the New Deal it [illegible] department of government.

Girl About Town

by Ann Marsters

IF YOU want to be a great golfer, you shouldn't go in for much tennis playing on the side. But if you're a tennis player, golf won't hurt in the least.

Ann Marsters

That's what Donald Budge, the greatest tennis player of them all, says about it. When he talks of golf, there comes into his eyes a gleam of excitement and he makes the rather surprising statement.

"I'm crazy about golf. I like it much better than tennis."

Tennis was only played about a dozen times in his life. "The first time" he said, "I went around in 105. Then, each time I played I got a little better and on my tenth try, I made an 86." Budge appears more proud of that achievement than of all his tennis honors rolled together.

You may want to know just why he thinks that too much tennis will interfere with one's advancement in golf. It's because a tennis player is liable to bring too much right arm into his golf swing.

Have you ever noticed that Pullman waiters have round corners on the front of their coats?

Well—"cherchez la femme"—because there's a woman responsible for it. Frank Galvin, son of the late E. E. Galvin, former president of the Union Pacific railroad, says it happened like this:

"Mother was riding on a train early in the century and noticed that the points of the waiters' white jackets trailed in the food every time they leaned across a table. It was she who insisted that father change the coats, eliminating the points. Other railroads soon followed suit.

New York Cavalcade

by Louis Sobol

CASUAL COMMENT: Before leaving Hollywood, I revisited Skid Row in downtown Los Angeles. Some of its Barbary Coast flavor was missing on this second invasion—the aura of sinister glamour seemed to have evaporated.

We drifted over to Olvera street, picturesque fragment of old Mexico, brought penny drip candy on sticks, visited the ancient adobe manse, halted to listen to the Mexican strolling musicians, and watched the candle-dipping. A fortune-telling lady lured me to her side, held my hand and read my palm.

Louis Sobol

"You have great lonnnnes," she insisted. "Some day you will say to yourself, 'Why should I work like this over figures for a man who knows nothing about me? What do I care whether he sells more goods this year than last?' That's what you will say and then you will suddenly quit and you will do what you want because you are a true artist. You should paint. You should play the violin."

I said to the lady. "I think you are wrong. I do not work over figures and my boss doesn't sell goods. I can't paint and I can't play the fiddle."

The fortune-telling lady shrugged her shoulders. "Maybe you're right. I wouldn't guess right every time. I wouldn't be sitting here on a hard chair holding hands of men I don't know."

FARTHER DOWN sat another fortune-telling lady but we have a slight acquaintanceship with her and she made no attempt to read my palm. She is Wanda—and her clients are among the top-flight Hollywood stars and producers. How clairvoyant she is I cannot tell—but occasionally, she is in great disfavor with producers or actors and actresses will come to her and ask her whether the stars in the heavens and the lines in their palms and the cards give a hint as to what is to be their fate if they work in the picture at hand.

Often Wanda will say "By no means must you work in that picture. It will ruin you with your public. You will lose prestige. You better ask for a vacation look, this card—it is the sign. Stay out of that picture." And no amount of cajolery or threats or bribery will sway Wanda from her decision.

EARLIER in the evening, there was a united impulse to inspect a burlesque offering. Several young ladies were featured at a Main Street house but when we drove up we found a line extending half way down the block.

I do not think our Commissioner Paul Moss would be pleased with the burlesque which Los Angeles tolerates but the citizens of that great metropolis see no harm.

Someone whispered to the manager that a visiting newspaperman was in the party. Somehow he found us seats. Ten minutes was enough. After all a person may tire even of yawning.

"What I Detest"

by Hugh S. Johnson

BETHANY BEACH, DEL.—I got more than my usual quota of what Westbrook Pegler calls "Dear-sir-you-s.o.b." letters for a recent few lotsa words for Communists. I boiled in effect that, under our Constitution, Mr. Voorhis has as much right to believe in and talk Communism as he has to be a Democrat, to be entitled to vote and to stand and be voted for and keeps his proposed changes in America constitutional within Constitutional methods.

General Johnson

I have a profound belief in the Bill of Rights and that it is to be kept sacred for all who obey the laws. I do not think Communist views are treason to overthrow by force and violence in peacetime. I do think they are treason as threats to overthrow by force and violence in wartime.

The words "Communist" and "Communism" are too loose to mean much of anything. The [illegible] is not important. What I detest is not that party, or Earl Browder, or his other [illegible] but every advocating has a few [illegible] of the proletariat [illegible] anybody else.

It is the confiscation and destruction of human rights, including property, whether that is done openly by some swift stroke of a usurper or "cleverly" and slyly over several years, by confiscatory taxation, debasement of the value of money, unbalanced budgets and other [illegible] ing, bribery and intimidation of voters through federal aliens in administration of [illegible] in American extensions and centralization in the powers of government at the expense of Congress, the courts and the States, or by any other method.

I DON'T BELIEVE that in favor of some theoretical ideal that far [illegible] the world's history we should restrain peaceful and economic systems that have made at least a little seconds in international affairs at a great advancement and prosperity in our own [illegible] I think that much of the world's present [illegible] period of misery and unrest and [illegible] equalled distress and depression are due to the policies and beliefs I have just enumerated.

It is true that they are professed beliefs of the Communist Party. But that is not [illegible] important as the fact that they seem to be the policies if not beliefs of many powerful political leaders and officials who don't call themselves Communists at all but with a clear conscience believe in our lavishly say they are Democrats.

It certainly does NOT, writes [illegible] of Yakima, Wash., in a letter which [illegible] for every patriotic American.

NOW a 19-year-old Young American—WILLIAM YOUNG of Detroit, Mich.—calls for a "BACK-TO-CHRISTIANITY" MOVEMENT.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"America is facing big-time trouble and we should do something about it.

"Read back in our history, and you'll see that our forefathers had a strong religious sense. Abraham Lincoln in his most trying moments, always turned to the Bible for comfort and courage. The Christian men who formed our Constitution made it as fair as possible to all people but now look what has happened to us.

"LET US TURN ABOUT AND TRY TO LIVE CHRISTIAN LIVES, using the Golden Rule as our measure of conduct.

"The fact that we have poverty, [illegible] crime and are living in constant fear of war shows how we miss Religion. SO HOW ABOUT A BACK-TO-CHRISTIANITY MOVEMENT?

FROM MARTHA LEE'S MONDAY BROADCAST OVER STATION WMEX—11:30 A. M.

But there has not been accepted allowance for the marvelous array of modern cooking equipment with the thorough application of science.

Assigned to Adventure by Irene Kuhn

Author Fails Again, Loses Paris Job

WHAT HAS HAPPENED:

Having lost her position on a New York City newspaper, Irene Kuhn accepts a "glamour" job with a firm opening a Paris branch. Her friend, Phil Payne, famous journalist, tells her It sounds too good to be true." But she takes the job, only to learn Payne was right.

NOW CONTINUE:

CHAPTER 11

Our offices in Paris were as luxurious as those in New York. But here we had what the Big Boss and all the executives evidently considered the Paris touch. It was the gaudy faded elegance of Louis XV. It was that more than anything which contributed to my growing embarrassment over the job, for I felt as if I were working in a bordello.

In my months on the Syracuse Herald and later on the New York News I had become accustomed to the rough and tumble of a newspaper office's friendly confusion—more so, indeed, than I had realized.

Now in the midst of this brocade and gilt gingerbread, with the self-important and the unimportant nuncing and prancing around on tiptoe carpets, I felt as if I were living in a vacuum. Moreover, my work was a dull routine, for all the fine talk about the advertising [illegible] which was to engage my talents never [illegible] materialize.

Gallery Thrilled By Golf Stars

Belmont Match Brilliant Affair

By JACK CONWAY

THE GOLF exhibition in which Jimmy Thomson and Lawson Little defeated Horton Smith and Harry Cooper by one up at the Belmont Country Club was one of the most brilliant affairs ever staged in New England. The big gallery that followed the four crack golfers around the 18 holes was quick to show its appreciation of every good shot.

Mr Boston

I enjoyed the match, but I got my greatest thrill out of the one hour demonstration of golf shots put on by Thomson, Cooper and Little with Smith as commentator before the regular match. Thomson, Cooper and Little illustrated the right and the wrong way of hitting the various shots.

In showing the wrong way to hit shots, the three golfers did a bit of exaggeration, and brought forth many a laugh from the crowd. The spectators joined in the merriment when they saw Thomson, Cooper and Little intentionally making the mistakes so common with Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning golfers.

Cooper, Thomson and Smith are experienced showmen, while Little has added much color to his playing since he has cast his lot with the professionals. As an amateur, Little had a tendency to be too rigid. Golf was then such a serious game with him that he got few laughs out of it.

Experience and touring with crack professionals has caused Little to relax more when in competition, and he now wisecracks as well as any of his links rivals.

Little is still a great player when under the most severe fire. He has the temperament that enables him to show at his best when pressed.

Thomson got tremendous power behind his drives, while his approach game was good. Jimmy had some trouble with his putting in the early part of the match, but soon corrected that fault, and ended up with a 69 for the 18 holes.

Cooper and Smith Perfect Golfers

HARRY COOPER and Horton Smith looked the part of perfect golfers. They could call most of their shots.

Cooper has the poise that comes with years of experience in major competition. I have never seen a professional golfer who was as sure of every shot he made as was Cooper at Belmont.

Smith has complete command of his approach shots and putts.

The rival golfers continued to bear down until Cooper missed a putt on the eighteenth green that made it impossible to defeat Thomson and Little.

Following the match, Smith gave autograph seekers half an hour of his time.

"The match at Belmont was the best we have had on our present tour," said Smith, who acted as manager and spokesman for the visiting golfers. "The Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser and Bill Grimes, golf editor of these newspapers, are to be congratulated for handling so well all of the arrangements in connection with the match.

"The Belmont Country Club gave us splendid co-operation, and had its course in fine condition.

"We are looking forward to playing another exhibition match for the Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser next year."

All of the Greater Boston golf clubs were represented by officials and members in the big gallery. They were unanimous in declaring it was one of the finest golf exhibitions ever held in New England.

The Selectmen of the Town of Belmont as well as the police department of Belmont gave their full co-operation, and made it possible to care for the large gallery without any confusion.

The Studebaker Company furnished two cars to bring the golfers to Boston from Bretton Woods, N. H.

The Boston Police Department also assisted in escorting Smith, Thomson, Cooper and Little through the city to the Cambridge line where they were given an escort by Chief of Police Leahy.

The Weather Man also did his part and furnished an ideal day. It was a grand show in every respect.

Every move of great interest. Putting as well as driving commanded the attention of the 4,000 golf fans at Belmont yesterday. Above, they crowd the 7th tee green just as Lawson Little is about to putt. The match was a thriller from start to finish and was almost evened up on the 18th green.

Friendly enemies. All four golf kings leave the eighteenth tee just after getting their final drives off. The four from, left to right, are Lawson Little, Harry Cooper, Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson. These gentlemen who have mastered every stroke in the book showed the huge gallery true golf

It was Jimmy Thomson's honor on the third fairway and he drove the pill as a true champion should. His partner and two adversaries look on. Identified by number, Little is 1, Cooper is 2, Smith is 3, and Thomson is 4. Interest in this match was so great that Belmont decided to run a big tourney.

Dogtrack Pays Rich Dividends

Despite the fact that Bay State Greyhound Association, Inc., for the 40 days of dog racing in 1937, had a commission on pari-mutuel betting of $760,386 (11½ per cent of $6,612,054 handle) and $42,886, representing 50 per cent of the "breaks," a total of $803,272, the April 30, 1938, balance sheet of the association reveals an impressive decline in surplus.

This stood at $8650 at the end of the fiscal year, a drop of $97,217 as compared with the previous year.

In view of the fact that both attendance and betting during the year were the largest since dog racing was legalized in Massachusetts, it is obvious that the Association did not operate in the "red" the past year.

The decline would indicate liberal dividend payments to the select group of stockholders.

NO REAL ESTATE

In this connection it may be noted that at a hearing last year before the Securities Division of the Department of Public Utilities, in connection with proposal for qualification for sale in Massachusetts of Bay State Greyhound stock, it was alleged that in 1936 dividends aggregating $375,000 were paid.

In 1936 the pari-mutuel handle for 40 racing days was $6,096,979. For 31 racing days in 1935 the handle was $2,680,768.

Bay State Greyhound Association, Inc., has outstanding 50,000 shares of no-par capital stock, carried on the balance sheet at $1 a share. Treasury stock amounted to $19,500 at the end of the fiscal year.

The company holds no real estate, but has an investment of $2500 in capital stock of an affiliate, Wonderland Amusements, Inc., owning the dog racing plant at Revere.

Old Harbor Kennel Club, Inc., shares with Bay State Greyhound the controlling interest in Wonderland Amusements.

The year-end account of $126,640 advances to an affiliated company, is money loaned to Wonderland Amusements. A year previous this stood at $153,343.

Other important balance sheet changes include an increase in receivables from $28,432 to $63,656; notes and acceptances payable of $117,000, against nothing a year ago. Reserves were up to $90,376 from $65,987.

DIGHTON REPORT

Bristol County Kennel Club, Inc., operating the dog track at Dighton, reported little change in surplus item, which stood at $70,862 on Dec. 31, 1937, compared with $70,559 at the end of 1936.

The track had a pari-mutuel handle of $3,187,486 for 40 racing days in 1937, compared with $3,109,801 for 40 days in 1936 and $3,581,117 for 63 days in 1935.

The club last year received $366,569 in commissions and $23,319 from "breaks," a total of $389,879.

Foxx Threat Worries Hank

Home Run King More Afraid of Jimmy Than New Record

Henry Greenberg, the hammering Hebrew who guards first base for the Detroit Tigers when he isn't ruining enemy pitchers, professes to be giving little thought to breaking Babe Ruth's season record of 60 homers, as he runs well ahead of the pace the Bambino set in establishing the mark in 1927.

Hank Greenberg

Ask "Hank" what he thinks of his chances of dethroning the old Sultan of Swat and he replies that Sox Jimmy Foxx, runner up in the round-tripper parade, ought to be named the most valuable American League player of the year.

"Sure I'd like to break Ruth's record," says the Tigers' thumper. "Who wouldn't be proud to surpass the home run total of the greatest slugger of 'em all? The way to do it, however, is not by thinking about it but by staying in there swinging.

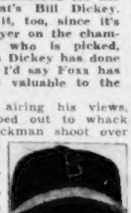
"What I'm concerned about right now is staying ahead of Jimmy Foxx. Jim is being overlooked by the fans and writers who are discussing my chances of breaking Ruth's record, but I'm not overlooking him. He's having his greatest year and he's red hot right now. He might catch me yet; might, even if I should pass the 60 mark.

"Whether he does or not, I think he should be the unanimous choice of the selectors as the most valuable American League player of the year. He would be if the vote were taken among A. L. managers and players.

ONLY ONE RIVAL.

"There's only one other player who could be considered for the award and that's Bill Dickey. He might get it, too, since it's generally a player on the championship team who is picked, but as much as Dickey has done for the Yanks, I'd say Foxx has been far more valuable to the Red Sox."

Shortly after airing his views, Greenberg stepped out to whack an Emerson Dickman shoot over the leftfield wall for his 45th four-master of the season to help the Tigers chalk up a 4 to 3 Sabbath win over the Hose.



Jimmy Foxx

That blow put "Hank" six homers ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace.

The game was the Tigers, 117th Ruth did not hit his 45th in his record year until the Yanks 131st game. At the 117-game mark 11 years back, the Bam had rapped out only 39 round-trippers.

Greenberg's 45th blow was the third homer witnessed by a Sunday crowd of 18,000.

Ben Chapman parked a Tommy Bridges pitch over the wall in the fourth.

Then, following "Hank's" whack in the seventh, Rudy York stepped up to manufacture his 29th homer, which tied the score.

And the Bengals won out in the tenth, when Carl Christman tripled with one out and Chet Morgan beat out an infield hit with two gone.

The two-game series will come to a close this p. m. Jack Wilson will be in the Boston box seeking his 14th triumph.

Callahan Set For Martin Go

Kaplan vs. Mellody in Twin Windup at Garden Show

Boston's candidate for a crack at Henry Armstrong, triple champion, may be determined tonight when Handy Andy Callahan, Lawrence, and Georgie Martin, Castle Square, collide in one of the two 10-round main bouts of the Goodwin A. C. boxing show which lifts the curtain on the indoor season at the Boston Garden.

In the other half of the double-header, Merry Mike Kaplan, Dor-

Matchmaker Rip Valenti of the Eagle, Charlestown, New England's lightweight ring champion. Both are return bouts the fans have been asking for and two brilliant battles are expected.

Matchmaker Rip Valenti of the Goodwin club received word from Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, last week that Mead still hopes to bring the triple-champion here in a few months when the wounds of the Lou Ambers bout heal.

While Callahan took a decision over Martin in their first fight he's no better than even money and take your pick tonight. This is chiefly because Martin rocked Handy Andy on several occasions in their first fray and the experts figured he would have done a lot better but for the fact that Callahan's southpaw style puzzled him.

Andy Callahan

Callahan, a veteran at 28, is down close to 142 pounds and reported fighting better than ever before in his career. Right now Callahan is back on the welterweight peak in this section having whipped Martin and Ralph Zannelli. Another win over Martin will give him a firmer footing and may mean a bout with Armstrong and some big $$$$$.

MELLODY vs. KAPLAN

Mellody and Kaplan raced to a brilliant draw in their first meeting, one of the best bouts of the Garden. Kaplan has picked up power and experience since he met Mellody and is expected to win tonight. He'll be a slight favorite.

Mike Kaplan

Unusual interest has been awakened among the fight customers by this show and it wouldn't be surwinter at the prising to see the Garden jammed with the biggest fight crowd in several years.

Dem Wakerlis, Greece, vs. Wes Fer ell, New Orleans, is the 8-round semi-final. Fours will be Jackie Lupo, North End, vs. Tony Amore, Hartford, and George Salamone, East Boston, vs. Pete King, East Boston. Lupo and Salamone are former amateur champions.

Amazing Bees In Chicago for 3-Game Series

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—Those amazing Bees who won 10 out of 15 games on their current road trip arrived here today for a three day series which gets underway tomorrow.

Supposedly a helpless second division ball club, those Bees have been playing the best ball in the National League this past month and it's probably just as well for the leaders that the Bees were not a bit higher in standing at the first of August.

Dick Errickson

During the last six weeks the Bees have dropped only one series and that was to the Pirates early last week.

Yesterday they made a one-day stop in St. Louis and Casey Stengel's boys broke even. In the opening game Bob Weiland, Red Sox castoff, came up with a three-hitter to give the Gas House Gang a 5 to 1 triumph but in the night-cap Dick Errickson blanked the home club 2 to 0.

Armstrong Gives Inside on Ross 'Go'

This is the 9th in a series of thirteen articles by Henry Armstrong, called by experts "the greatest fighter for his weight" in the ring today. Carried to the top of his profession by intelligent perseverance, "Hammering Henry" will tell an intimate story of the struggle that brought him the multiple championships of the world—from amateur to preliminary boy to the highest awards of pugilism.

By HENRY ARMSTRONG

(World Featherweight, Welterweight and Lightweight Champion)

Copyright, 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

After my knockout of Petey Sarron for the featherweight championship, I felt like I had really arrived. I finally had cashed in and I knew now that the security I always had wanted and planned was just about to be realized. We didn't waste any time capitalizing on the prestige I had gained.

I always was a busy fighter, keeping active without any long layoffs between bouts, and we decided to continue along that line.

But what now? The big money is in championship fights and there were no outstanding featherweights around at the moment to enable me to defend my 126-pound crown. Mr. Mead decided finally that we should go after the lightweight championship held by Lou Ambers.

STORY OF ROSS MATCH

And now I think you are about to read for the first time exactly how the match for Barney Ross' welterweight championship came to be made. We wanted Ambers because he was nearer my size and was in the division next above the featherweight. We actually hadn't given Ross a thought. But when negotiations were opened for a bout with Ambers, his manager, Al Weill, stalled briefly then in all seriousness announced that he would demand a $100,000 guarantee from Promoter Mike Jacobs.

That killed all chance of my fighting Ambers for the time being, but it paved the way to my match with Ross and to my winning a second championship.

KEARNS HELPED MEAD

When the Ambers fight fell through, Mr. Mead went to Cleveland on business and while there met Jack Kearns, who managed Jack Dempsey to the heavyweight championship, and who is known as one of the smartest men in boxing. During the conversation the possibility of my meeting Ross came up and Mr. Kearns said:

"If you want Ross I'll start the ball rolling. I'll announce I'm making the match for Detroit or Cleveland and I'll make a legitimate offer."

Mr. Kearns did. Promoter Jacobs immediately called Mr. Mead when he read about it, and said he wanted the match.

Mr. Mead said the man who could close with Ross could have the fight, and so on May 31 I met him—for Promoter Jacobs in the Long Island Bowl, New York. I had met Sarron on October 31 of last year, so wen my second title in seven months almost to the day.

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American Henry Armstrong will continue his amazing life story.

48 PICKETS FINED

RUSH BACK ON "LINE"

Forty-eight men and women pickets were arrested in the garment factory section today for obstructing traffic, but they were back at their posts within a few minutes of release on bail of $25 each in municipal court.

At the same time accusations of "brutality" were hurled at police by International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union officials caught in the traffic violation roundup.

The 48 arrested pleaded not guilty before Judge Jennie Loitman Barron, who continued the cases for hearing until September 13.

Philip Kramer of Boston and Anna Kula of New York, union vice-presidents, both taken into custody by Warren avenue police, declared the arresting officers "kicked pickets on the shin" and "manhandled" the women on the picket line.

Another complainant was Rose Pesotta of Fayette street, South End, union organizer, also arrested in the picket raid.

Formation of the picket lines again today ended week-end reports of peace between manufacturers and workers in the garment industry although union officials stated one picketed factory had met union demands.

Two other garment shops, it was said, closed their doors rather than capitulate to union organizers and a third remained open in defiance of union opposition.

Fun in a Strike—Some 48 smiling prisoners are loaded into Black Marias for trip to Warren avenue station as aftermath of riot in which 1000 garment strikers and active spectators brought squads of police reserves to Kneeland street today.

Yachtsman Dies After Crossing Atlantic Alone

Seeking adventure, wealthy 59-year-old Victor Brevoort sailed out of Boston, a year ago, alone on a 36-foot yawl.

Today, from Spain, came official word that he had found the greatest of all adventures—death!

Unreported for months and sought by naval vessels of several governments, Brevoort's tiny cockle-shell craft apparently crossed the broad Atlantic unscathed, only to pile up, at last, on a storm-swept reef of the Spanish coast.

Wreckage of his yawl, Cygnet, was found by Bay of Biscay fishermen, today's report said.

It also said, laconically:

"Brevoort drowned."

Where his body was discovered and how identified, the report didn't tell. Nor did authorities here learn if the Cygnet's log was recovered.

If Brevoort wrote into that log the day by day, month by month story of his sea odyssey, the record must have been an adventure epic.

Lashing his helm and sleeping when weather was fair, holding the tiller day and night when gales raged, he must have experienced in generous measure all the thrills he used to covet as a prosperous, aging Florida real estate dealer.

And in the end, with no chart to guide him, he took death as his pilot and set sail again.

POLI'S WIDOW ROBBED

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Aug. 29 (INS) — Jewelyr, silverware and two fur coats, valued at $4000, were stolen from the unoccupied home here of Mrs. Rose Poli, widow of the late New England theater magnate, S. Z. Poli, it was reported to police today.

3 Mystery Fires Shut N. H. Hotel

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., Aug. 29—Three suspicious fires in the past week resulted in the Mount Pleasant Hotel here closing today for the remainder of the season while state police and other investigators sought the source of the three blazes.

Guests of the hotel have been transferred to the Mount Washington Hotel.

Hub Kidnap Victim Left In Palmer

A South End cafe proprietor found himself bound and gagged in a field at Palmer today after three bandits had kidnaped him from his Jamaica Plain home five hours earlier and robbed him of $59.

The victim, Frank G. Twiss, owner of a cafe at Tremont and Berkeley streets, loosened his bonds and removed his gag just before dawn and reported his plight to Palmer police. He was in a half-dazed condition.

They immediately notified state police headquarters and these authorities, in turn, spread a dragnet for the three bandits.

In his statement to Palmer police, Twiss said he was set upon by the kidnapers as he drove his car into the yard of his home on Center street, after closing his cafe for the night.

He declared the trio pulled him from the front seat, thrust him into the rear compartment and on a nearby street, slugged and robbed him.

He asserted the three men then made two breaks in search of money, one at a roadside restaurant and another at a filling station, where he declared two vending machines were stolen and $91 taken.
